HISTORY

As a young boy, aged 10, I always knew that I wanted to not be an employee, but an employer. I had a dream of going into the construction field. This dream was birthed by going with, and watching my dad work on sites, building and renovating houses. Because of this, I chose Bellville Technical High School as my institution to learn about the building industry. During this time, I would still join my father on the site and work for him. I was noticed by a business owner who saw my work and potential and invested in me by registering my company, Teleios Construction, in 2017. As my business grew, I was excited to be part of my church's programme to encourage other potential businessmen and women to be part of the path that I had decided to pursue. I was able to assist them from the experience that I had gained at that stage. So, I have been in the construction Industry for most of my life.
