Patrick Fick

Designer

Hi, I am Patrick. During 2020 I saw an opportunity in the furniture-manufacturing sector and was able to turn what I love into my own business venture. I truly believe that if you love what you do, you will not work a day in your life.

Market research has proven Patrick's belief that a focus on quality work at competitive prices makes for great word-of-mouth marketing endeavours. With four regular part-time workers to assist in the manufacturing process when large orders are received, attention is also given to create learning opportunities and demonstrate the value of woodworking skills to the youth. To give back to the community, PFF Joinery does free repairs work at old age homes and provide free novelty stands to underprivileged families.
